MinuteBox Transforms Remote Work and Document Management at Wildeboer Dellelce LLP

Find out how MinuteBox offers Wildeboer Dellelce LLP the technology and culture alignment they need to compete in today's market.

Wildeboer Dellelce LLP is a Bay Street law firm comprised of about 100 professionals, providing comprehensive corporate services. Although a single-office firm, they compete effectively against national firms by maintaining a keen focus on culture and cutting-edge technology.

Wildeboer Dellelce LLP was faced with two major challenges that demanded immediate action. Firstly, their existing entity management software was showing signs of obsolescence and was not slated for future development. Secondly, and more urgently, the firm's existing software solution did not support remote work—a necessity for the modern workforce and a point emphasized by their Chief Information Officer.

Upon discovering MinuteBox, Wildeboer Dellelce LLP found more than just a technological solution. They found a strategic partner that perfectly aligned with their core principles, which include a strong emphasis on firm culture and adaptability.

They were particularly compelled by several key features of MinuteBox:

- Secure remote access to their extensive corporate database
- A robust online filing system
- User-friendly document generation tools

“Dealing with the MinuteBox team has been tremendous. I really get the sense that the same is true of the MinuteBox team, where people seem passionate about what they’re doing and also seem to really enjoy working with each other,” said Alison Sinclair, Director of Corporate Services, Wildeboer Dellelce LLP.

MinuteBox made an immediate impact with its online filing and document generation capabilities, something the firm had struggled with using their previous software. The partnership felt "very organic from the beginning," according to Sinclair. What stood out was the culture alignment, seamless technology integration and endless possibilities for new developments in the MinuteBox program.

“MinuteBox stands out from other products in that it will have much more functionality and enable us to complete online filings. The document generation piece will be pivotal to our firm,” said Sinclair.

An Organic Partnership with Advanced Technological Solutions

If your law firm is striving to compete with larger entities and stay current, MinuteBox could be your best ally. Offering both cutting-edge technology and a culture of passion and teamwork, MinuteBox is uniquely positioned to meet the unique challenges faced by firms like Wildeboer Dellelce LLP.
